CITY BALANCE IS $63,196.67

FINANCIAL REPORT SHOWS INCREASED WATER RECEIPTS.

END TO WALNUT PAVING

City Council Finds For Remonstrators In an Ordinance—Sidewalk Grades Are Established.

According to the financial report of Mayor W. O. Garrett to the city council last night the receipts of the water department show an increase during the month of June over the receipts during May of $508.87. The amount received during May was $2,603.52 as compared with $3,112.39 during June, indicating an increase in amount of water used.

However the total amount in the city treasury slumped a trifle from May to June, due to heavier expenses that the city is under, improving the water system, new mains; and the general fund has been hit harder than any time previous this year, caused by the carrying out of the paving program this summer. The paying for notice to contractors, publishing of resolutions and additional charges of engineering expense is taken out of the general fund.

The mayor's report showed a balance on hand of $63,196.67 out of which the bills for the month of June are to be paid.

Each fund has the following amounts:

Water department, $27,061.41; street fund, $3,165.87; library fund, $3,329.05; general fund, $15,419.60; first water bond principal, $4,260.67; first water bond interest, $3,992.78; street worker's guarantee fund, $251; street lighting, $4,377.73; second water bond principal, $629.61; second water bond interest, $1,698.29; petty cash, $0.66; a total of $63,196.67.

Miss Grace Langan, librarian, had the following report for the month of June:

Loan department—juvenile, total 982; general, 1,635; magazines, 125; total of 2,742 books and magazines loaned during the month, or an average of 105 a day. There were 130 readers' cards issued during the month.

There were 1,004 who used the periodical reading room, 186 in children's room, 5222 in reference room, 115 Sunday readers, or a total number of 1,827 readers during June, an average of sixty-one a day. Collections totaled $30.42.

Ed T. Godsey was granted a renewal on his license to operate four pool tables at his place of business 105 East Fourth street.

An ordinance was passed fixing the grade for sidewalks on portions of certain streets in Maryville. The grade was established on Walnut street at a point 132 feet north of the north line of Twelfth street, at a point at intersection of Walnut and Thirteenth streets, on each side of Thirteenth street at a point 138 feet east of east line of Walnut street, at intersection of Mulberry and Thirteenth streets.

All sidewalks built or constructed on any of described streets shall be a uniform plane from grade point to the next as required by other ordinances of the city.

The city council adjourned until Monday, when it may introduce an ordinance for paving on Lincoln street from Buchanan to South Main streets.

The findings of the result of protests filed against paving of Walnut street from Lincoln to Ninth street were passed on by the council in the form of an ordinance by the city council in special session last night.

The ordinance in part reads:

"The protests contained the names of more than a majority of the resident owners of property abutting on the portion of said Walnut street proposed to be improved who owned more than a majority of the front feet of property so abutting on said street owned by residents of said city and liable to pay the cost of said improvements, by reason whereof the council finds and hereby declares that the aforesaid protests are sufficient and that the council has no further right or authority to proceed with said improvements under Paving Resolution No. A 22."

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Sillers moved yesterday from 402 West Third street to the George Hartley residence at 604 North Market street.

TIRE BUYERS TO DIG DEEP

GOODYEAR COMPANY IN THIRD INCREASE.

RELIEF NOT SOON

Excess Demand And Low Stocks Forced American Motorists To Pay Toll To "Controlled Production."

Akron, O., July 2.—The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company boosted tire prices for the third time this year when an increase of 10 per cent in tire prices and 15 per cent in inner tube prices went into effect yesterday. The increase for smallest size tires was somewhat less than 10 per cent.

In answer to rumors that a general price increase would become effective the first of this month, officials of all other large rubber concerns declared Tuesday that they believed they would have to increase prices soon but had made no definite plans. It is expected that several other companies will boost prices in a few days.

A slight decline in crude rubber prices was experienced this week when prices dropped five cents a pound from the peak price of ninety cents a pound reached Saturday. Rubber brokers stated, however, that the market is so unsettled they thought prices will go higher again. The 90 cent price is more than a 30 per cent increase since January 1.

Washington, July 2.—American motor car riders will pay in the aggregate many millions of dollars more for their tires in the next few months while the lucky owners of crude rubber plantations in the far East grow rich at their expense.

Rubber has soared "out of sight" and there is no relief in prospect as trade experts here view the situation, at least not in the near future. Because of the general advance in crude rubber prices two companies announced 10 per cent increases in the price of casings today and it is said this move will become general throughout the trade. If present extreme prices for spot rubber prevail long, even heavier increases may have to go into effect, although the prospect is for expensive

Rev. Henry Buchmueller of Forreston, Ill., has completed 65 years as a minister in the Evangelical church. He has retired, because of his advanced age of 88, and with his wife recently celebrated his 63d wedding anniversary.

W. R. LINVILLE 77 YEARS OLD

SKIDMORE MAN IS PIONEER OF COUNTY.

IS BORN NEAR BARNARD

Continuously Lived in Skidmore for 75 Years—Surprise Birthday Dinner is Held.

Mr. Linville was born on a farm near Barnard. He has continuously lived in the Skidmore community for about 75 years. He has a clear recollection of the primitive conditions which prevailed here in his early youth and his reminiscences are extremely interesting. At the time the Linville family came here there was much wild land still owned by the government and open for settlement. Neighbors were few and far between, and one could go all the way to Maryville and not pass a house or a fence until almost to the town. There were no bridges and it was frequently necessary to go around the head of a stream. Wild turkeys and deer were numerous and prairie chickens were found in countless numbers.

Elk horns were scattered over the country and old buffalo wallows were still plainly in evidence. One of Mr. Linville's boyhood memories is of the old Eratus Downing grist mill that stood along Nodaway creek near Skidmore. Mr. Linville frequently took grain there in a sack on horseback and would find there people who had come many miles with wagon loads of grain for several families, the wagons being drawn over the rude trails by four and six-ox teams. These customers would be compelled to go into camp at the mill and wait sometimes a week or more for their turn.

Mr. Linville received his education in a typical pioneer log-cabin school house, being the McDowell school, three and a half miles south of Skidmore.

In April, 1904, the Bank of Skidmore was organized and in the fall of the same year Mr. Linville and his two sons, Aaron Linville and W. S. Linville bought stock in the bank and subsequently increased their holdings. This bank is one of the solid and influential financial institutions of the county.

At the surprise birthday dinner yesterday at his home were: Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Duvall, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Linville and son, Charles, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Linville and sons, Lawrence and Byron, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Linville and son, Francis, and daughter, Lucille.

Discover Plan for Releasing Prisoners

Plot in Kansas Penitentiary Is Thwarted By Officers—Convicts Put In Dungeons.

Lansing, Kan., July 2.—A plot for a startling delivery of prisoners in the Kansas penitentiary was frustrated when prison officials placed ten convicts in solitary confinement.

The officials obtained evidence of a plot to imprison W. H. Mackey, warden, and R. L. Hudspeth, his deputy, and to permit all prisoners to escape who cared to.

The plans, according to the warden, included the shooting of the guards and compelling Mackey and Hudspeth to issue orders which would allow the delivery.

Several of those put in dungeons have confessed, Mackey said. The plot called for importation of firearms through prisoners employed in the line gang on the prison farm. The outside man, whose name prison officials have not revealed, is said to have secreted revolvers and ammunition on the prison farm where convicts could obtain them with detection.

Install New Officers.

The following officers were installed at the meeting of the Wilcox I. O. O. F. Lodge last night: Noble Grand, James Huckleberry; and vice-grand, Chester Ferguson. The meeting was attended by four vistors from Maryville and four from Burlington Junction. Ice cream and cake were served at the close of the meeting.

Refreshments will be served and various forms of entertainment have been arranged.

KLAN QUESTION WORRIES CAL

GENERAL COAL STRIKE ALSO IS PERPLEXING.

FIRST MORE IMMINENT

President Invited To Deliver Address At Convention of Hooded Order In Washington In August.

Swampscott, Mass., July 2.—Two problems appeared over the horizon of President Coolidge's vacation today.

The first has to do with a general strike in the coal fields.

A tie-up in the coal fields would confront the President with the first real industrial crisis of his administration.

The Klan problem is more imminent. Although no invitation has actually reached the summer White House here, it has been announced that Mr. Coolidge will be asked to address the Klan convention in Washington in August, and also review the parade.

It has been stated through the press by officials of the organization that the President could not well refuse them because he spoke before the Holy Name society last year.

2 Auto Accidents Yesterday Afternoon

When trying to avoid a collision with a yellow gravel truck about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Charles Hollensbee and her sister-in-law, Miss Hollensbee, were cut on the shoulders and back, as the Ford coupe they were driving caught the rear wheel of the Westfall car parked at the curb, turning the coupe over. Mrs. and Miss Hollensbee are from Pickering.

The accident occurred about the eleven hundred block on East Third street. A physician was called and their wounds were dressed.

Another gravel truck collided with the Reuillard Bakery truck late yesterday afternoon on West Fourth street, damaging the truck and the driver, Paul Brown, narrowly escaped injury. An axle and wheel on the bakery truck were broken and three tires blew out.

Parallel Parking Is Extended to 3rd St.

Parking next to the curb is gradually being extended on all the streets in Maryville. This morning parking spaces marked by white paint, were designated next to the curbing on Third street from Main to Buchanan streets. Parallel parking here on both sides of the street is the system carried out.

MORE QUAKE SHOCKS FELT

BUT NO DAMAGE IS DONE BY NEW DISTURBANCES.

TEN MILLION LOSS

With Marines On Guard, Quiet Prevails in Santa Barbara—Relief Contributions Are Pouring In.

Santa Barbara, Calif., July 2.—Total loss in Santa Barbara's earthquake probably will not exceed ten million dollars, the engineers commission, examining various buildings, officially announced today.

Santa Barbara, Calif., July 2.—Shocks continued to shake this quake-swept city today. A tremor slightly rocked the entire city at 10:02 this morning which followed two shocks during the night.

None of these shocks did damage but excitement and new terror was caused in the stricken community by the maximum violence of the 10:02 tremor over the two previous shocks.

The rocker this morning was the strongest since the shock at 5:55 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Santa Barbara, Calif., July 2—With more than 300 United States marines on guard, quiet prevailed in Santa Barbara today.

As the sun wheeled into the heavens, it became apparent that the city was more completely destroyed than first believed. Many buildings that yesterday stood upright, seemingly undamaged except for immense cracks, today were piles of brick and mortar.

The death toll remained at thirteen today. Search for four or five believed dead was made in all wrecked buildings.

Two minor shocks were felt during the night. No damage was done.

Contributions from all parts of the country continued to pour into the city for relief work. Several injured persons were released from hospitals and none of the seriously injured are expected to die.

A return to normalcy was reported on all sides today. The postoffice was reopened with all clerks on duty. Mail deliveries were made as usual.

Highest Temperature Yesterday Is 104

Mercury At Noon Today Registered 96, According To J. R. Brink, Official Weather Observer.

One hundred and four degrees—a new record for several years—was registered by J. R. Brink's thermometer some time after 1:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Mr. Brink's thermometer does not register the hour but merely the maximum temperature during the day.

At 1:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon the temperature was 100 degrees.

At noon today, the official temperature was ninety six, Mr. Brink said.

Road Meeting at C. of C. Rooms Tonight

No Official Comment on Doheny Statement

But Government Counsel Points Out That National Defense Act Is Brought Out in Hearing.

Washington, July 2.—Official comment was lacking here today on the statement of Edward L. Doheny that a war scare in the Pacific caused the government to contract with him for the building of storage tanks in Hawaii and his oil leases in California.

At the offices of the government's oil counsel it was pointed out that the national defense act referred to by Doheny was brought out in the hearing before the Senate public lands committee but that little attention had been paid to it at the trial of Doheny and Harry F. Sinclair as the state and navy departments did not regard it as important.

Philadelphia, July 2.—Disclosure of an alleged rum plot involving Philadepphia policemen wil be made at the conclusion of the federal grand jury here, according to Henry Friedman, assistant United States attorney.

Friedman said today that following the submission to the grand jury on July 10, he would forward to S. D. Butler, director of public safety, information of the alleged plot. He said that evidence will show that certain policemen accepted hush money and in other ways worked with violators of the liquor laws.

CHINA'S FATE IN BALANCE

GREAT POWERS DEBATE CONFERENCE SUGGESTION.

GREAT BRITAIN COOL

Washington, July 2.—China's immediate fate hung in the balance today as the great powers of the world debated the Washington suggestion that a conference be held at once to solve the involved extra-territorial rights problem.

Informal views, either accepting or rejecting the American proposal, are expected to arrive at the state department within the next few days.

The arrival in Peking of John MacMurray, American minister, was expected here today to be a signal for the formal launching of the conference which was provided for in a resolution adopted by the powers in 1924.

During past decades foreigners obtaining concessions in China have been permitted to administer and enforce their own laws. Chinese officials and police have the right to arrest foreigners but at times, their authority ceases as in order to appear before magistrates of their own nationalities.

It was this condition which received inspired the anti-foreign riots.

London, July 2.—Great Britain today threw cold water on the proposal by Secretary Kellogg for a new conference of the powers to iron out China's troubles that have resulted in the present widespread disorders in that country.

British officials were much surprised at Kellogg's move for no communication had been received from Washington, they asserted.

He discounted all reports that the trial might be moved away from here and announced that the state would be ready to open its case on July 10.

Washington, July 2.—The flagship Bowdoin of the MacMillan Arctic expedition is lying at Battle Harbor, Labrador awaiting the arrival of the airplane-carrier Peary, said a radio dispatch to the National Geographic Society today from Commander MacMillan.

Fog, ice floes and a falling barometer may make a short delay at Battle Harbor necessary, according to MacMillan, even after the Peary arrives.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER
By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—British attempts to create a world impression that China is in revolt against foreigners in general, rather than against two particular nationalities, are fretting some of the Far Eastern experts in the State Department considerably.

Their information is that Chinese hostility is directed almost solely against the British and Japanese, that leaders of the movement have gone out of their way to express friendship for Americans and that they have been surprisingly successful in creating a similar feeling among the ignorant mass of their countrymen, who can't tell white men apart unless they're told.

It naturally isn't to Britain's or Japan's interest to have it appear that they especially are the objects of Chinese hatred.

It not only raises a question as to the reason for such an attitude toward them, and them alone, but might prevent them from securing other nationalities'—America's mainly—support, if they should decide to adopt strong repressive measures on a large scale.

Japan, her contacts with the western world relatively limited, can't "doctor" Oriental news very effectively, but England, largely in control of its sources, is succeeding extremely well at it.

That there's trouble the British freely admit—even emphasize—but no more for them than for anybody else, according to the dispatches they let get through—dispatches which, in the absence of much other information, are quite generally passed along and reprinted here, which is just what the British want.

Mistaken publics sometimes make it hard for governments to stick to the policies they think best.

Sometimes it's to her interest to present an ugly picture of the Occident—all but herself—to the Chinese.

For instance, when some roughneck citizen of any other country than her own kicks a native coolie off a gangplank and he's drowned—quite a common occurrence—the British controlled press all up and down the Chinese coast emphasizes his nationality and his brutality for all it's worth.

But if an Englishman does the same thing, he's a "foreigner"—that's all.

All over the world local native-British newspapers and reviews, and British influence, carry on this work.

In South America it never ceases. There's no out-and-out clumsy misrepresentation, that you can put your finger on, and say, "This isn't so."

Just a dab of color, here and there! —and the thing has the required pro-British and anti-everything else look.

American trade doesn't seem to realize this. If it did, perhaps it would try some of it for itself.

Hints are current that Secretary of State Kellogg is beginning to suspect he fired more or less at half cock in the matter of that warning to President Calles.

The rest of Latin America certainly reacted very unfavorably—not to mention Mexico—and maybe the secretary has been hearing from there through North American diplomatic channels.

It's reported that American interests in Mexico have found fault, too.

The truth seems to be—judging from little State Department leaks—that Ambassador Sheffield, who isn't a Spanish scholar and hadn't been south of the Rio Grande long enough to have seen much for himself, took as the foundation for the story he told Kellogg certain American grievances which do exist and slapped a far weightier superstructure on it than the underpinning justified.

Kellogg took his word for it and there you are.

Sheffield is going back to Mexico but it wouldn't surprise anybody in Washington if he didn't stay long.

Achievements of Citizens Is Most Valuable Form of Community Advertising

The following is the twenty-sixth installment of the article on "Community Advertising" written for the Democrat-Forum by D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce.

Of all forms of community advertising, by far the most impressive and valuable is that which arises out of the achievements of the citizens.

The present trend of development in radio seems to be toward centralization and the elimination of smaller sending stations. In some communities large radio receiving clubs are being formed. These clubs are able to send messages to the larger sending stations by wire and have their communications broadcast the same night.

A second medium of community advertising, far more powerful than the broadcasting method, is the influence of motion pictures. With the growth of community advertising there will be developed a demand for motion pictures on cities, communities, and states. There have been sold, in the U. S., more motion picture projection outfits to non-commercial exhibitors than to commercial exhibitors.

Weekly news releases offer the best medium for getting special events show. Private showing are usually expensive for community advertising, it being difficult to get a crowd out, and requiring local co-operation.

The possibilities in advertising on the screen are not comprehended as yet. There is hardly a city that has not some outstanding historical event that could be built into a romance, filmed and used as community advertising. Industrial and commercial life in any city also offers excellent subjects for publicity materials.

In motion pictures advertising the original cost is the greatest. The channels through which this visual form of advertising may be applied must be determined in advance. Motion pictures are very useful in selling people on their own community.

Macon County Pays Its Toll to Railroad

Certified Check For $56,328.12 Is Only Part Payment To Missouri And Mississippi Railroad Company.

Macon, Mo., July 2.—$56,328.12, in the shape of a certified check was mailed here today by Raymie F. Burch, county treasurer, to New York, as the amount due July 1 on the bond settlement which will ultimately wipe out the debt Macon county owes to the Missouri and Mississippi railroad company.

The amount sent today painfully reminded the county of the M. and M. indebtedness. The check today paid $50,000 principal, $6,250 interest, $62.50 bank's fee and $15.62 bank's fee for paying coupons.

On April 2, 1867 the County Court of Macon subscribed $175,000 to the capital stock of the Missouri and Mississippi railroad company, and on May 2, 1870 said county court made a like subscription for the same amount making a total of $350,000 subscribed. In payment for the shares the court issued to the railroad company twenty year six per cent coupon bonds aggregating $350,000. To provide for payment of the bonds and interest, a levy of one twentieth of one per cent, or five cents on the $100 assessed valuation of the county was made by the county court annually.

The sum derived was insufficient to meet the annual interest on the bonds and of course, nothing was forthcoming for taking care of the principal.

A proposition recommended by Federal Judge Elmer Adams and D. P. Dyer to issue refunding bonds as payment in full of all claims arising out of the issue of said bonds was favorably voted upon in 1911.

Scheibe Must Serve 100 Days in Jail

(St. Joseph News-Press).

Sam Schiebe was brought back to St. Joseph from Maryville by Deputy Sheriff Verne Starmer late yesterday to serve 100 days in jail as he says he cannot pay a fine of $100 which was assessed against him in police court for driving a motor car while he was drunk. He had appealed his fine and his appeal was set aside in the criminal court for want of prosecution.

Scheibe lives in St. Joseph, but he had been confined in a Maryville hospital following a motor car accident there in which he suffered a broken leg. He was taken in custody upon his release from the hospital yesterday.

Huge Amount Available for Tax Reduction

U. S. Government Closes Books With Surplus $260,000,000 — May Mean 50 Per Cent Cut.

By PAUL R. MALLON
United Press Staff Correspondent.

Washington, July 2—The United States government—biggest business in the world—closed its books Wednesday for the fiscal year of 1925 with a surplus of about $260,000,000.

This unexpected profit means that more than $600,000,000 may be available for the new tax reduction scheme to be worked out by the winter congress.

Only $300,000,000 was available last year when congress slashed 25 per cent off the bill. The new figures for this fiscal year and estimates for the one ending next June 30 indicate that twice that amount will be available for the new cut.

If the ordinary policy of permitting all the surplus to be used for tax reduction is followed the present bill of the taxpayer would be cut down about 50 per cent.

But that is not the present scheme. Officials of the Treasury Department and administration leaders on Capitol Hill believe that not more than $500,000,000 or $400,000,000 should be used for tax reduction purposes. Many governmental improvements are needed and a new, costly building program may be put through.

Miss Bertha Ritze, who underwent an operation at St. Francis Hospital June 17, was able to return to her home on North Mulberry street Tuesday evening. She is doing nicely.

Former Pastor Will Head Baptist College

The Rev. W. C. Ferguson Chosen President Of Institution At Marble Hill, Mo.—200 Students Enrolled.

Rev. W. C. Ferguson of St. Joseph, formerly pastor of the Baptist Church of Maryville, has been elected president of the Will Mayfield College at Marble Hill, Mo. The following is from the St. Louis Globe-Democrat:

Rev. W. C. Ferguson of St. Joseph, Mo., has been elected president of the Will Mayfield College at Marble Hill, Mo. Dr. Ferguson has been pastor of the Savannah Avenue Baptist Church in St. Joseph and was for five years field financial representative of William Jewell College.

The late Dr. W. Mayfield, founder of the Mayfield Sanitarium in this city, founded the Will Mayfield College as a memorial for his son. It is coeducational, and is devoted principally to the education of young men and women for Christian service and the gospel ministry. There were 200 students enrolled in the current year. The institution inherited most of the estate of Dr. Mayfield.

Dr. F. A. Hendricks, who has been president for twenty years, resigned on account of poor health.

Special Programs at Elmo Church in Aug.

(By Edgar O. Wells, Minister).

The rain on Saturday night prevented our people living in the country from attending the anniversary last Sunday, but these words of the great apostle, "I have learned in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content," took away all discouragement, and the full program will be carried out at the morning hour next Sunday. And this will mean two anniversaries in one day, and at 8:00 p. m., the sermon theme will be, "The Inner Meaning of Independence."

Do not forget that our church will have a special program every Sunday night during the months of July and August and we are expecting the help of all the adult classes in the Sunday School, and that of the intermediate also, but we will be one week late with the program, in the press notices thereof.

"If ye be willing and obedient ye shall eat the good of the land," is just as full of command and promise now, as in the days of their first appearance. It will pay large dividends to read the 11th chapter of Hebrews once a week for six months, and begin to put it into practice after the first reading. Try it and be convinced.

Earth's Activity Is Cause for the Quake

By Professor Raffaele Bendandi
Noted Italian Seismologist.
Written for the United Press.

Faenza, Italy, July 2.—The causes of the earthquakes in California are neither volcanic nor Tectonic and must be found in the extensive telluric activity which is getting accentuated in North America and Asia as I predicted recently through the United Press.

The recent earthquakes in Canada and Mexico, followed now by the California quakes, are manifestations of this increasingly serious malady which is tearing at the viscera of the great planetary body.

"Tectonic" means "pertaining to rock structures and external forms resulting from deformation of the earth's crust" while "telluric" means "of or pertaining to the earth proceeding from the earth."

In lay language this means that the California troubles do not arise from external formations of the earth but are the result of powerful forces stirring inside the earth—a sort of readjustment of the layers beneath the surface.

Haynes May Be Next Man to Get the "Can"

Different Type of Prohibition Director Is Favored—Assistant Andrews Dominates Field.

By WILLIAM J. LOSH
United Press Staff Correspondent.

Washington, July 2.—Federal Prohibition Director Roy A. Haynes, for four years director of national dry enforcement, is slated to be the major casualty in the new prohibition reorganization it is indicated here.

A different type of official, perhaps one of the ex-army officers for which Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews has announced a partiality, probably will succeed him in the next few months.

With the ascendancy of Andrews the function of Haynes in the enforcement machinery became unimportant. Andrews dominated the field.

As head of what will amount really to an inspector's department, Andrews desires a new man who will not be hampered in the execution of his inspector's functions by long relationship with many of his subordinates.

The passing of Haynes thus will not be any criticism of his record but simply in response to a new set of conditions which makes his retention in office under the new regime inadvisable.

In this connection a revival of reports that Haynes would run for governor of Ohio was heard. Haynes refused pointblank to discuss them. Political experts pointed out for Haynes to resign now to run for governor with the Ohio primaries over a year away would be a politically injudicious move. He would cut himself off from the best avenue of publicity he has and barring something unexpected, would give the Ohio public a year in which to lose sight of.

Bumper Corn, Cotton Crops Are Predicted

Topeka, Kan., July 2.—Bumper corn and cotton crops in the southwest—giving promise of the largest on record—were forecast today by J. F. Jarrell, manager of the agricultural development of the Santa Fe Railway in his monthly report.

Corn in Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Iowa and Illinois is in excellent shape and moisture conditions are generally good, Jarrell's report said.

Jarrell estimated the wheat crop in various states as follows:

Kansas 90,000,000 bushels; Missouri, 28,500,000; Illinois, 38,000,000; Nebraska, 35,500,000; Oklahoma 26,000,000; Colorado, 14,000,000; Texas, 11,000,000; California, 10,500,000; Iowa, 8,000,000.

Wheat prices at the present time range from 20 to 50 cents higher per bushel over last year's prices, Jarrell said.

The wheat harvest is reported as just starting in Nebraska and nearing completion in Kansas.

NEWS OF MISSOURI CITIES AND TOWNS

Jefferson City, Mo., July 2.—Commenting yesterday on the leniency shown in the past to youthful prisoners at the reformatory at Boonville, who have been paroled after serving short periods of their incarceration, Governor Baker said he would terminate the practice. Many of the offenders have been re-arrested for crimes following their release and returned to the institution?

The Governor said: "There is going to be a change in the system there, and there will not be as many paroles as in the past."

Baker said he had notified the heads of the Reformatory and the heads of the Parole Board that in the future all applications for paroles for prisoners in the reformatory must be handled in the same manner as applications from convicts in the penitentiary.

The same requirements will apply to paroles for inmates of the Industrial Training School for Girls at Chillicothe and the Training School for Negro girls at Tipton.

It is the governor's plan to have the applications passed by the board and recommendations made by the board before paroles are granted.

Gov. Baker said: "I will see the recommendations before the paroles are granted."

Heretofore the paroles have not passed through the Governor's hands.

Under the parole system in use at the penitentiary, a convict seeking a parole or commutation of sentence is given a hearing by the board as to the merits of his application. If the board recommends clemency, the recommendation goes to the Governor, who may grant the parole or reject the recommendation, at his discretion.

The system that has been in use at Boonville made possible the release of a prisoner within a year to 14 months, regardless of the length of sentence. A merit system in use there permits release of a prisoner when he has earned 2800 merit credits.

It is possible to earn these in about fourteen months, it is said. In special cases paroles have been granted sooner.

The reformatory is not limited to juvenile prisoners alone, as the present state law makes it possible to send prisoners there up to the age of 30 years. The State penal board may transfer prisoners from the penitentiary to the reformatory when they are within the age limit.

Youths convicted of crimes and sent to the penitentiary for terms of several years frequently make an effort to gain a transfer to the reformatory when prospects for a parole from the penitentiary are not promising. Once transferred to the reformatory under the merit system there a release is possible after a year of good conduct.

St. Louis, Mo., July 2.—St. Louis' first sky-pilot is a Catholic Priest. He is the Rev. Henry Hussmann, pastor of St. Henry's Catholic Church here.

Father Hussmann in commenting upon his schooling in the art of aviation said, "I decided I would like to fly away back in 1910. However, I didn't get my first ride until several years later. After I had been up a few times, I wanted to fly a ship myself and I've been taking lessons for some time."

When asked as to whether or not he would invest in a plane he replied that the duties of his parish kept him "too busy" to "ever allow me to own a plane even if I could afford it. But I manage to get out to the flying field once a week and leave the parish in charge of an assistant."

So Practical and Neat

FOR traveling, shopping and general wear, this frock of navy-blue flat crepe fills the bill perfectly. It has the new Eton jacket effect, softened by a rippling jabot front. Two wide pleats provide ample room at the hemline.

They're All Jockeys

Meet the three Fator brothers, Mark, Elmer and Laverne (left to right), who are hanging up nifty reputations on race tracks this season. Each is a star jockey. And all are big favorites with followers of the turf. Three brothers—all jockeys—that's a rather odd coincidence.

"I'm looking forward to solo flights," he said. Flying gives a man a glorified feeling and flying alone, I am told, is better than flying with an instructor. A flight gives a man a chance to see the real beauty of the earth and gives him material for thought on the infinite power and the knowledge of the Creator. It's like singing a Te Deum."

Jefferson City, Mo. July 2.—According to the State Marketing Bureau here, two hundred and seventy-nine carloads of strawberries shipped from southern Missouri were inspected by the federal-state shipping point inspection service this year. A total of 1,600 carloads of the berries were shipped. This year saw the inauguration of the shipping point inspection service which was provided for at the last session of the State Assembly.

The service is said to have cost one dollar a car more than if the service had been rendered thru private inspection. However, it is reported that the plan has proved of great benefit to shippers.

Inspections were made at Tipton Ford, Republic, Monett, Pierce City, Seneca, McElhaney, Wentworth and Neosho.

The value of the Missouri strawberry crop this year has been estimated at $3,000,000.

Mansfield, Mo., July 2.—Wilder Lane, local resident has recently completed a biography of Jack London, the author.

Rolla, Mo., July 2.—Edward J. Joiner, postal employee of Newburg, Mo., was brought here today on a charge of robbing the mails. He was arrainged by Commissioner Charles Wood and bound over pending action of the federal grand jury.

Joiner was arrested yesterday morning at Newburg by postal inspectors and Frisco special agents.

Macon, Mo., July 2.—According to C. O. Powell, secretary of the Farmers Mutual Insurance Company, Macon county this year has prospects of the best crops in many seasons.

Mr. Powell has just returned from an inspection tour of the county and is qualified to hazard a prediction knowing as he does the personel and condition of the farms.

"Wheat, oats and meadow are already made," said Powell. "All that confronts the farmer at the present time is the saving of the wheat and oats. If we have good weather this week, the wheat will all be in the shock and oats will almost be ready for the binder.

"Prospects for the second cutting of clover are excellent. The prospect for corn is better than Macon county has had in many, many years. The prospects for a heavy yield were never better."

De Soto, Mo., July 2.—At a special election here yesterday the municipal bond issue of $28,500 to be used to improve the waterworks system, carried by a vote of 10 to 1.

C. D. Bellows, president of the Missouri State Fair Board, went to Sedalia this morning on business in connection with the annual state fair to be held August 15-22.

Bud Knox went to Excelsior Springs last night where he will take treatment for rheumatism. Mr. Knox is just recovering from an illness of flu. His son, Lee Knox, motored to Excelsior Springs with him, returning home early this morning.

A Measure of Grief

By MARY BLAKE WOODSON

(©, 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

JASON turned in at the shabby little place he had inherited a bit testily. He was palpably trying to be conventionally regretful. He was a busy man, said Jason's manner, and he really oughtn't to be bothered with settling up puny estates and rummaging in a lot of musty things belonging to other people!

His property! Jason laughed scornfully as he let himself in. Of all the weird things—to be going into the home—of a cousin he had never seen, to go through his effects. A cousin to whom he was the only heir.

"So this is where Paul Gentry lived—and died," spoke Jason grimacing with a slight shudder. That must be the very chair, there by the fire that Gentry died in—the very one where they found him dead.

Curiously, Jason fingered the books on Paul Gentry's plain little table. He shook the books hard, flapping the leaves. They yielded nothing.

The old-fashioned desk in the corner was stuffed with papers mostly dusty and yellow with age. Jason made a wry face. Paul Gentry and his beloved treasures that were nothing to Jason—nothing of value, that is, a lot of letters addressed in a feminine hand. Yes, Jason supposed as much "Dearest Paul," "My darling one." Pah! Paul Gentry's old, wornout love affair. Or was she his wife! Anyway, she was nothing to Jason. Laboriously he opened all the letters looking for the material wealth that he could not find. Then he burned them in Paul Gentry's little, old grate, where the big chair seemed waiting.

"Nothing there," observed Jason, humorously, just as his hand fell on the quarter. It was old, and wrapped in an old piece of paper. Paul Gentry had written on it evidently years ago: "The first money young Paul ever earned."

"Well, well," said Jason, a bit taken aback, but slipping the quarter into his pocket. "Rather pathetic, but the quarter is still good."

There was an amazing pile of them after he got them all out—Paul Gentry's little records of life—letters and letters and letters, worth nothing. But no sign of money or papers of value. Of course not. Once more Jason laughed—ironically. Paul Gentry with practically nothing to leave, bothering him to go through his old letters.

In the bottom drawer, Jason found a shabby old black purse. It held a dollar bill. And Paul Gentry had written on a yellowed slip of paper around it: "In Anna's hand when she died." Jason put the dollar in his pocket.

"Too bad Anna had to pass on," he observed a bit less jocularly, "but an estate is an estate. What a lot of rubbish."

Time wore on. The day grayed. More and more rubbish was fed to the sorry little flame in Paul Gentry's cold fireplace. More and more little worthless things he had loved rested on his shabby chair waiting their turn.

In Paul Gentry's bedroom it was worse than ever. Shabbiness. Discouraged, drab, sordid shabbiness. Evidently Paul Gentry had gone to bed that night before he got up to die. The bed was tossed up. His clothes were still on a chair. Gingerly, Jason turned the pockets inside out. Nothing but trash—soiled handkerchiefs, clippings, bits of paper, a corn plaster, a stamp—nothing else.

In the closet was a sparse and heterogeneous collection of old coats, trousers, old hats, old shoes. Determinedly, he hauled them out. They yielded nothing, save one. It had a two-dollar bill in the lining where it had slipped through a hole.

In an old dispatch box in the closet corner, Jason found the will. Strange, with just the few dollars of discovered wealth in his pocket, Jason should have immediately felt that twinge of stubbornness, that determination to yield nothing to anybody else. But he needn't have feared. The will of Paul Gentry bequeathed whatever he possessed when he died to his beloved wife, Anna. But Anna was dead, too. And if she was dead it was all to go to Paul, junior. But he was dead, too. Anyway it wasn't a legal will. So Jason was safe. The box contained nothing more.

Slowly Jason took out his recovered treasure. He grinned over the first quarter as he had grinned at first. And as he added each find to the pile, his face grew a bit longer, decorously, as if his grief grew with each bit of money added. But Jason's grief didn't become real until he picked up the pathetic, twisted, worn old shoe. Somehow the sight of that quite overwhelmed him. Poor old Paul Gentry. His own, beloved cousin! To think of his living in abject poverty like this, friendless, alone, with nobody to care, all that was precious to him dead first. Poor, sad old Paul Gentry. Too bad, too bad, too bad. Paul Gentry must have a gravestone, at least. He must have a well-kept grave always. How frightfully sad it all was. How lonely even he, Jason, felt in the mean, bleak little house where poor Paul died. Poor, poor Paul Gentry. Suddenly holding the pathetic, twisted old shoe Jason gasped. Suddenly he gulped and burst into tears. Indeed he was quite overcome with the flood of his grief.

For the twisted old shoe, that he had picked up at last, held much to cause real grief. It held hidden a $75,000 life insurance policy—paid up!

Jury in Warden's Trial Cannot Agree

Atlanta, Ga., July 2.—After deliberating twenty-four hours, the jury, which heard evidence in the case of L. J. Fletcher, former deputy warden, and Father Thomas P. Hayden, former chaplain of the Atlanta federal penitentiary, who were tried on charges of conspiracy to accept bribes from wealthy prisoners in return for special privileges, this afternoon failed to agree and Judge Ervin ordered a mistrial in the case. According to the jury foreman, the jury stood eight to four for acquittal and said it was impossible for them to agree.

Ford Co. to Start Air Line to Cleveland

Detroit, Mich., July 2.—The Ford Motor Company has completed all details for opening a second express air line route on July 1 when daily round trips from Dearborn to the new Cleveland municipal flying field will be started, the United Press has been informed.

This additional route came as result of what officials termed a highly successful test of the present Dearborn Chicago line, which has been running daily since April 14.

Just what it actually has cost to transport freight to and from Chicago on this first freight line in the country, with other interesting data of the test, will be given the United Press at the expiration of three months.

Officials state this period has been decided on as the shortest time upon which an accurate gauge of costs could be formed. Early figures quoting 12½ cents a pound were declared inaccurate.

The initial Cleveland trip Wednesday, by which time a third all-metal plane will have been added to the present Ford fleet of two, will be made with a Ford chassis. This will be disembarged on the field and immediately assembled.

FOR RANSOM

Here are the principals in a strange kidnapping plot revealed at San Francisco. Bliss Baker (above), young University of California student, planned to kidnap Mrs. D. C. Jaekling (below), and hold her for a $50,000 ransom. The police discovered the plot before it could be brought into execution. Mrs. Jaekling is the wife of a wealthy copper magnate.

rubber for several years to come, it is not believed the present almost "panic shortage" levels can prevail long.

Drug On Market After War.

Rubber, which sold during the war at a peak price of about sixty cents a pound, became a drug on the market thereafter. It fell as low as fourteen cents, less than half the price necessary to give the plantation owners a profit. They were going broke. The British government, which monopolizes more than half the world rubber supply, put in sharp enforced restrictions on production. These worked fairly well for a while and rubber returned to a profitable level. The trouble has been in that it takes years to bring new rubber into production while millions of new motor cars can be turned out in a year. Not only has demand passed supply again but it has left it so far behind, prices have skyrocketed.

The American after war deflation and the demoralized motor car industry nearly ruined the rubber industry. At that time the British possessions, Malaya and Ceylon, were producing about 72 per cent of the world supply of crude rubber. The Dutch East Indies produced most of the remainder.

Now "Controlled Production."

The British colonial office stepped in to save the plantation owners and set up the much denounced system of "controlled production." It was estimated that 30 to 36 cents would give the plantation owners a good return and the scheme was designed to keep price levels at that mark. The colonial government arbitrarily cut production to 60 per cent of the potential maximum and set up a sliding scale. If the price went down, there was to be further restriction. If it went up, there was to be an adjustment upward. Under the act, there could be changes only every three months.

The unfortunate part of the British scheme is that it is not flexible. Adjustments can be made only every three months. With thirty six cents regarded as a fair price and rubber selling from seventy to ninety cents it can be seen no restriction now is justified on any grounds because of the price advance the British possessions will increase their output ten per cent July 1. This will give some relief and get production to seventy-five per cent of the potential maximum in the British restriction area. But it will be three months more before another change can be made.

One effect of the British control has been to stimulate production elsewhere. It is estimated that about 50 per cent of the 1925 supply will come from regions not under control of the British monopoly. Plantings have been enormous outside the controlled area in recent years. But it takes five years before a plantation comes into bearing and ten years before it is producing a maximum supply.

Last year the United States paid about 185 million dollars for its crude rubber. What it will pay this year cannot be estimated yet. But it will run well over 300 million dollars and may reach 400 million dollars.

The American government is pursuing the inquiry ordered by congress to see if rubber plantations can be successfully established in American possessions so this country can be independent of the British sources of supply. It is conceded that any such development is a matter of many years and will not affect the present situation.

Cross Eyes to Blame for the Crime Epidemic

Cause Immorality and Much of the Crime, Says Dr. H. J. Schireson.

Springfield, Ill., July 2.—(United Press)—Much of the present epidemic of crime and much of the "jazz mad" modernism of youth was blamed on cross eyes by Dr. Henry J. Schireson, Chicago, who presented a survey of the state penal institutions to Gov. Len Small. He urged state clinics for free treatment of optical disorders as a remedy.

"Crossed eyes or eyes out of focus in any way make the primrose path look rosier to the young man or girl of 1925," the report holds. "Optical disorders create a craving for synthetic gin. They lead women to smoke and turn sunny dispositioned persons into chronic grouches. They are responsible for immorality and for much of the crime."

Chicago Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, July 2.—Mixed sentiment caused erratic price changes in grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade today.

Wheat finished lower. Coarse grains made moderate advances. Action in wheat was not unlike conditions the past two days. Characteristic of unsettled conditions, the market advanced sharply on the uncertainty of the spring crop, as disappoint export sales were in doubt as to the tone of the government report to be issued July 9. Prices slipped off 2 cents to new lows on the present movement before an oversold market developed.

At this point when grain was wanted, it was not available and prices rallied above the previous close.

Higher prices, however, failed to hold when selling by shorts appeared later.

Fears of damage to growing crops in the Southwest from prevailing temperatures brought short covering into the corn pit.

Oats held firmly to the day's gains, reflecting strength in corn.

Provisions steadied after an early slump.

GOOD HOPE.

July 1st. It doesn't seem possible that it is July but never the less it is here; and very pleasant weather it is, cool nights, fine for sleeping; no need of going to Colorado to find cool evenings although they are fine there.

The ground is in fine condition for work and many of the farmers are laying by corn.

The hail was small and scarce in our immediate community last Saturday night. But we hear that over west of us it damaged the corn and wheat. Some of the men are talking of putting in a claim for damage; they of course, have their crop insured, which is a wise idea.

Oliver Wilson cut wheat last Saturday and we hear that today Ira Ringold and George B. Ulmer are to cut wheat. In fact the wheat and oats are all just about ready to harvest, and their fields are looking like there may be a good yield of both.

With corn plowing, grain harvesting and haying makes the farm a mighty busy place and the chores added to all this makes the farmer folks glad to retire early, for we have to get up early.

John Morehouse bought and hauled a load of corn from Henry Behm last Saturday morning. Henry was having a tussel with the mumps. These mumps seem to hang around in places; they are quite a bother, especially this time of year.

Ralph Dowling who has been working with the cement and concrete construction company out of Maryville has been moved by the company, to Jamesport, Mo. He, with his friend, Miss Catherine Lewis from Maryville spent Sunday with his homefolks, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Dowling. Howard Pistole was also a Sunday dinner guest of the Dowlings.

Thursday evening of this week is the regular meeting of the Farmer's Union Local at Highland with George B. Ulmer, the new president, in the chair. A literary program is being prepared for that evening.

Although some of us had to chain up and pull through the mud, up slick hills to Good Hope last Sunday, but the effort was worth while. The Children's Day program was put on and a good program too. The church was comfortably seated, only a few seats to spare and a very good collection, considering the day, every thing went off fine.

Next Sunday P. M., our district Sunday school convention is to meet in Hopkins in the Baptist church and be glad to have a good representation from Good Hope. Minnie Dowling from Good Hope is to sing a solo.

The W. W. Club is to meet next week, July 9th., with Mrs. Nora Harris.

The many friends of Mrs. Flossie Butts and son, Duane, will be glad to know that they are getting along fine in Boulder, Colo. They expect to spend the winter in California, going in August so as to get settled by the first of September so Duane will be ready for school.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Blanchard were host and hostess to quite a company of relatives and friends last Sunday in honor of Guy's brother, Bill Blanchard and family from Earlton, Kansas. The invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lafe Blanchard, Roy, Hattie and Iva, Clearmont; Mr. and Mrs. Harley Blanchard, Evelyn, Arthur and Lowell, Burlington Junction; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Glines and Eldon, Clarinda; Miss Opal Blackford, and Mr. Lowell Billingsley, Clearmont; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Blackney, Dennel, Mabel and Lewis; Mr. and Mrs. John Morehouse and Mrs. Martha Morehouse, Mr. and Mrs. Loy Blanchard, Bernice and Bertha Lucile all of Hopkins.

Miss Geneva Bordner, a class mate of Miss Thelma Ulmer spent the week end in the Ulmer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Blanchard and sons, James and Charles, started for home, at Earlton, Kansas, yesterday morning, arriving today if all goes well, a distance of 300 miles.

Where are you going to spend the Fourth? Most of us are likely to spend it at work, so behind with our work.

GOOD HOPE.

Mr. and Mrs. Leman Morehouse visited with Mr. and Mrs. Guy Blanchard and his brother, Will and family of Earlton, Kan., Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Harris were Sunday visitors at G. B. Ulmer's.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Miller entertained for Sunday dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt Miller, Charles Massie and and family and Dan Hodges.

Because her sweetheart, George Henry Clay, was serving with the United States navy in Chinese waters, Miss Jackie Van Diver, 22, of Davsville, Ky., went to Cincinnati clad in men's clothes and tried to enlist as a sailor. When her sex was discovered recruiting officers took up a collection to send her back home.

Doctor Advised Operation Friend Said Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound First

St. Paul, Minnesota.—"I was all rundown from overwork and worry, had no appetite, could not sleep at night, and looked like a corpse. I have six children (five boys and one girl) and did not get any strength after my last baby was born. I was getting worse and thinner every day. The doctor said I had to go to the Hospital but this I could not do on account of my family. So I went to a friend of mine and told her what the doctor had told me and she said, 'Now do as I tell you. Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I have done. It helped me.' So I started taking the Vegetable Compound and I noticed after the first few bottles that I felt considerably better. After taking 9 or 10 bottles I got over my fainting spells. Everybody who sees me now notices the great improvement in my health. I am gaining in weight and strength and am feeling fine. Eat well and sleep good nights. Any woman can write to me and I will answer her letter." — Mrs. MARY WILHELMY, 309 Duke Street, St. Paul, Minnesota.

Four Leafers Are Out to Clean the Slate

Golf Foursome Issues Wide and Sweeping Challenge—Accept Challenge of the Lawyers.

That fraternity of golf players which comprise the Law Foursome will now have to defend its colors. This morning a spokeman for the Four Leaf Clovers issued a wide and sweeping statement that it would accept the challenge of the Lawyer's Foursome to a golf match at any time designated by the challengers. The Four Leafers also issue a challenge to a golf match to the Bearcats, the Ex-Directors, or any other foursome that may be in existence at the Maryville Country Club.

The sport section of the Democrat-Forum and Tribune is open at all times to any challenges, notice of matches, and especially the results of any matches played at the Maryville Country Club.

The foregoing challenge and acceptance of the Lawyers' challenge should get some immediate action. Let's hear from you and all the others implicated.

* OF THE QUAKE *

(By United Press.)

The Granada Theater, the tallest building in Santa Barbara, did not sustain so much as a crack from the series of quakes, engineers who have surveyed the structure announced.

A light mist was falling in Santa Barbara bedewing the countenances of newspapermen sleeping on the ground and on packing cases around the news agency camps.

The Union Oil Company has opened depots for the distribution of coal oil without charge to needy families. Five gallon cans are being issued each family upon presentation of a "necessity ticket" obtainable at the Chamber of Commerce. With gas service still cut off, Santa Barbara's meals for the most part are prepared over oil stoves on side lawns.

Santa Barbara business men meeting to plan for the reopening of the city's business life as rapidly as conditions will permit, voted that no increase in the prices of foodstuffs must be made.

The Seaside Oil Company of Summer Land, near here, is furnishing gasoline without charge to relief cars and trucks.

Congregations of the wrecked protestant church buildings of the city will hold union services in Alameda Park Sunday. The pulpit will be mounted in the bandstand.

The battle song of the telephone construction men, busily unscrambling miles of tangled wires, is: "It ain't gonna shake no more; Oh, it ain't gonna shake no more. But how in the hell can the wise guys tell, it ain't gonna shake no more."

Monday's earthquake has given new life to numerous dry water wells in the zone of the trembler, it has been learned. One well on the James G. Williams ranch, six miles from the city, was producing more water than the delivery flume would carry, after having been dry for a lengthy period.

Former Prosecutor Files Salary Suit

Ruby M. Hulen Seeks Mandamus in Supreme Court Against Boone County Officials.

Columbia, Mo., July 2.—Ruby M. Hulen, former prosecuting attorney by his attorneys McLaine and Clark yesterday filed with the Supreme Court a petition for a writ of mandamus against the members of the Boone County Court and their attorney to compel them to audit and pay his account amounting to $8,819.47 which he claims is due him as unpaid salary for his services for four years as prosecuting attorney of this county.

Hulens' attorneys point out that though the Supreme Court of Missouri has expressly held in several cases that the salaries of the prosecuting attorneys of the various counties must be determined under the provisions of section 734 revised statutes of Missouri for the year 1919 and that said section as amended laws of 1921, page 574 is unconstitutional, yet the County court of Boone County is arbitrarily in the face of these decisions refusing to pay Hulen his salary as determined by the high court to be due him.

It is understood that the case of Don Lamm, who has a similar case from Pettis County and who is claiming over $4000 back salary for a two year term as prosecuting attorney of that county will be heard along with that of Hulen.

Hulen's attorney stated yesterday morning that they believed that the Supreme Court will take action on the petition today.
